What is Rucaparib 300mg Tablet?

Rucaparib 300mg tablet is used to maintain the response to other treatments in adults with certain types of ovarian cancer (cancer that starts in the female productive organs where eggs are generated), fallopian tube cancer (cancer that affects the tube that carries eggs from the ovaries to the uterus), and primary peritoneal cancer (cancer that develops in the layer of tissue lining the abdomen). Additionally, Rucaparib tablet is used in the treatment of specific types of prostate cancer in patients with a particular gene who have undergone prior treatments when the cancer has migrated to other parts of the body. The drug Rucaparib belongs to a group of drugs known as poly (ADP-ribose) polymerase (PARP) agents. It functions by eliminating cancer cells.

How to Use - Rucaparib

- Rucaparib is available as an oral tablet. It is typically taken twice a day, either with or without meals, and roughly 12 hours apart.
- It should be taken every day at about the same time(s). Ask your doctor to clarify any instructions you do not understand, and carefully follow the instructions on your prescription label.

- Rucaparib 300mg tablet should be taken exactly as prescribed. Never take it in larger or fewer amounts or more frequently than directed by your doctor.
- Depending on how you react to the medication and any adverse effects you experience, your doctor may decide to postpone your treatment or change the dosage of Rucaparib.
- Discuss your feelings regarding your treatment with your doctor. Without first consulting your doctor, do not discontinue taking Rucaparib tablet. Avoid receiving another dose of Rucaparib if you vomit after eating it. Continue taking your medication as usual.

How Rucaparib Tablet Works

Rucaparib stops cancer cells from fixing their damaged DNA (by obstructing specific proteins), which ultimately results in their death.

Precautions for Rucaparib 300mg Tablet

- If you have an allergy to Rucaparib, any other drugs, or any of the inert substances in Rucaparib tablets, let your doctor know right away.
- Inform your doctor about all prescription and over-the-counter drugs, vitamins, dietary supplements, and natural remedies you are now taking or intend to use
- If you have diabetes, renal or liver problem, a blood clot somewhere in your body, or a stroke, let your doctor know.
- Be sure to let your doctor know if you're nursing a baby or pregnant. It can be harmful to the fetus. If you are taking Rucaparib, you should not breastfeed.
- Make a plan for the use of protective clothing, sunglasses, hat, and sunscreen in addition to avoiding needless or prolonged sun exposure. Your skin could become sun-sensitive if you use Rucaparib.
- During or soon after your treatment, let your doctor or dentist know if you need to have surgery, including dental surgery.

Side Effects of Rucaparib

Rucaparib might have undesirable effects. If any of the following symptoms are serious or do not go away, let your doctor know right away:

- Nausea
- Vomiting
- Constipation
- Diarrhea
- Abdominal pain
- Lack of appetite
- Unpleasant aftertaste
- Itching
- Oral sores
- Sneezing, coughing, painful, or nasal congestion

Some adverse effects can be very harmful. Call your doctor right away if you notice any of these signs:

- Fatigue, weakness, fever, and weight loss
