What is Pomalidomide Capsule?

Pomalidomide capsule is used to cure different myeloma (a kind of bone marrow cancer) that has not improved after receiving additional drugs, such as

and bortezomib or carfilzomib, for at least 60 days. It's also used to cure Kaposi's sarcoma (a type of cancer that causes abnormal tissue to grow on different regions of the body) in persons who have failed to respond to conventional treatments. Pomalidomide belongs to a class of drugs known as immunomodulatory agents. It works by assisting the bone marrow in the production of regular blood cells while also eliminating harmful cells in the bone marrow.

Pomalidomide Capsule - How To Use

- Pomalidomide is available in the form of a capsule that must be swallowed. On days 1 to 21 of a 28-day cycle, it is commonly given once daily with or without food. This 28-day schedule can be repeated as often as your doctor suggests.

- Do not crush or chew the capsules; swallow them whole with water. Do not open or touch the capsules more than is necessary. If broken capsules or powder come into touch with your skin, wash the affected area with soap and water. If any of the capsule contents get into your eyes, flush them with water very away.
- If you have specific side effects, your doctor may need to discontinue your therapy permanently or temporarily, or reduce your dose.

How It Works

Pomalidomide belongs to a class of drugs known as immunomodulatory agents. It works by assisting the bone marrow in the production of regular blood cells while also eliminating harmful cells in the marrow.

Precautions for Pomalidomide

- If you have an allergy to pomalidomide or any of the substances in pomalidomide capsule, notify your doctor.
- Tell your doctor about any additional drugs, vitamins, nutritional supplements, or herbal products you're taking or planning to use. Make a point of mentioning one or more of the following:

ketoconazole

, carbamazepine, and

your doctor may need to adjust your prescription dosages or keep a close eye on you for side effects.

- If you're on dialysis (a medical procedure that cleans the blood when the kidneys aren't performing properly) or if you have or have ever had liver disease, notify your doctor.
- While using pomalidomide capsule, you should not breastfeed.
- If you use tobacco products, notify your doctor. This medication's effectiveness may be reduced if you smoke cigarettes.

- Pomalidomide capsule has the potential to make you dizzy or distracted. Until you know how this drug affects you, do not drive a car, operate machinery, or engage in any other tasks that need you to be totally aware.

Pomalidomide Capsule - Side Effects

- It's possible that you'll experience dizziness, disorientation, fatigue, weakness, constipation, diarrhoea, back/bone pain, muscle discomfort/cramps, nausea, vomiting, and a loss of appetite.
- If you experience any major side effects, such as numbness/tingling/swelling of the arms/legs/hands/feet, or shortness of breath, contact your doctor straight away.
- This medicine reduces bone marrow function, which can result in a reduction in blood cells such red cells, white cells, and platelets. This consequence can result in anaemia, a reduction in your body's ability to fight infection.
- Due to the quick killing of cancer cells, pomalidomide capsule might induce negative effects (tumor lysis syndrome). Your doctor may prescribe medicine and advise you to stay hydrated to reduce your risk.
- This medicine rarely causes a severe allergic reaction. However, if you detect any symptoms of a major allergic response, such as a rash, itching/swelling, extreme dizziness, or problems breathing, seek medical treatment right away.
- Consult the doctor if you have any other side effects not listed above.

Some Tips for Pomalidomide

- Do not miss any doses and follow your doctor's instructions to the letter.
- To avoid pregnancy while using this drug, use an effective birth control technique.
- Don't give blood to anyone during the therapy or for the first 7 days afterward.
- Regular blood tests may be ordered by your doctor to evaluate your blood cell count and liver function.
- It causes you to become dizzy. Do not drive or operate machinery until you have a clear understanding of how it may affect you.
